Respiratory Medications

Inhaler/Medication	Dose/Frequency

My usual symptoms

My sputum colour is:

My sputum amount is daily.

Cough? Yes No

Wheeze? Yes No

Chest tightness? Yes No

Smoker? Yes No

I can usually walk, metres before getting breathless.

My COPD may be getting worse if I have any of the following symptoms:

- I feel more breathless than usual
- My sputum has changed colour
- I have more sputum
- I have a new or increased cough
- I am finding my normal daily activities more difficult or taking longer
- I have new or increased ankle swelling

What actions should I take?

- I should increase my reliever medication
- I should drink plenty of fluids
- I should monitor my symptoms

If your symptoms improve within 2 days, continue your usual medication and regime.

However, if they are no better or getting worse, continue with your increased dose of reliever medication

What to do if I have an exacerbation?

I am having an exacerbation if I have two or more of the following symptoms:

- I am much more breathless than usual
- I have an increased amount of sputum
- I have a change in colour of my sputum
- I have a decreased appetite
- I have the feeling of being generally unwell
- I have a raised temperature/fever
- My inhalers/ medication are not helping.

My actions:

- Continue my usual medication
- Use increased reliever therapy
- Keep hydrated
- Start my rescue medication (antibiotics and/or steroids)
- Practice breathing techniques and relaxation
- Inform GP/nurse

Day to day management/ keeping well

- I take my inhalers/medication as prescribed
- I plan each day carefully
- I eat a balanced diet
- I eat small regular meals
- I exercise regularly
- I drink plenty of fluids
- I use my breathing techniques
- I use my relaxation techniques
- I make time for things I enjoy
- I receive my annual flu vaccine
- I receive my pneumonia vaccine as appropriate

Ask 3 Questions

Become more involved in decisions about your healthcare. You may be asked to make choices about your treatment. To begin with, try to make sure you get the answers to three key questions:

1. What are my options?
2. What are the pros and cons of each option for me?
3. How do I get support to help me make a decision that is right for me?

How We Use Your Information
